THE BEST QUESTIONS TO ASK YOUR PLASTIC SURGEON:

Are you board certified in plastic surgery?

Where did you complete your education?

How many years have you been in practice?

Do you have a fully licensed outpatient facility?

With which hospital(s) are you affiliated?

wish to be pampered with the most luxurious and outstanding experience, guaranteeing the utmost in privacy and personalized medicine.

Dedicated to fulfilling the aesthetic needs of every patient who walks through the door, Dr. Weintraub's reputation of being an excellent surgeon begins with one simple thing: listening. "A great surgeon should always, first and foremost, listen to his patients. No two patients are exactly alike. The challenge is to deliver the most refined surgery that is unquestionably tailored to each patient individually. This is the essence of true beauty." Dr. Weintraub's fully accredited surgical facility is located directly on Manhattan's exclusive Fifth Avenue. It has a private entrance and a hospital-grade operating room with hand-selected, board-certified anesthesiologists and nurses, making it the most discreet and elegant in the city of New York.

FACELIFT

Many people do not realize that—when properly performed—a facelift should be undetectable. “This patient had multiple issues,” states Dr. Weintraub. “I resuspended her face, excised excess tissue of the upper and lower eyelids, corrected the patient’s convex and hooked nose, and lifted her neck.” By addressing all of these areas, the patient now looks refreshed and immensely younger but not at all stretched, pulled, or unnatural.

RHINOPLASTY

Proportion, proportion, proportion! Just as a nose that is too big does not suit a face, neither does a nose that is too small. “In order to create the most natural-looking result, the ‘new’ nose must be proportionate with the patient’s features to create elegant facial harmony,” says Dr. Weintraub. “In addition, a refined tip and elegant tip projection are the secrets to amazing results!”

FACELIFT & RHINOPLASTY

Not only does facelift surgery help to make a patient look younger, a rhinoplasty in conjunction with a facelift produces amazing results. “Patients often do not realize the youthening effects of rhinoplasty when performed simultaneously with facelift surgery. This is because as we age, noses have a tendency to appear larger and to droop downward.” By making the nose more proportionate and elegant, patients can look decades younger and as a result, feel better about themselves.

EYELID/BLEPHAROPLASTY

“No topical product can correct extremely baggy eyes,” states Dr. Weintraub. “Eye bags are the result of excess fat of the lower lids, which is often a genetic condition or due to the natural aging of the face.” When addressed surgically using the transconjunctival approach, the result is smooth, scarless and stunning, and the recovery period is less than five days since there aren’t any external incisions.
